Voter Frequently Asked Questions

Question 1 - I live in a hospital or long-term care facility. How can I vote?

Everyone who votes must prove their identity and address. Learn more about all the kinds of proof of address and identity accepted.

Here are some ways to prove your identity and address:

- To prove your identity (name), you can show a piece of ID with your name on it, like a health card, social insurance card (SIN card), birth certificate, Veterans Affairs Canada Health Identification Card, or hospital bracelet.
- For residents of long-term care facilities, you can show photocopies of your proof of identity and address documents.
- To prove your address, one option is to show an "Attestation of Residence." This is an official letter from a long-term care facility that says this person lives there. You can request this letter from the facility administrator.
- You can still vote if you declare your identity and address in writing and have someone who knows you vouch for you. The voucher must be able to prove their identity and address. The voucher may be an employee of the institution where you live. The employee may vouch for more than one elector and must reside in the same electoral district or adjacent electoral district as the person being vouched for.

Question 2 - I live in a hospital or long-term care facility. How can I vote?

Everyone who votes must prove their identity and address. Learn more about all the kinds of proof of address and identity accepted.

Limits on Party Contributions

Political Entity	2021 Annual Limit	Limit per election called between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 2021
To each registered party	$1,650.00 *	N/A
In total to all the registered associations, nomination contestants and candidates of each registered party	$1,650.00 *	N/A
In total to all leadership contestants in a particular contest	$1,650.00 *	N/A
To each independent candidate	N/A	$1,650.00 *

Notes:

- The contribution limits apply to total contributions, the unpaid balance of loans made during the contribution period, and the amount of any loan guarantees made during the contribution period that an individual is still liable for. The sum of these three amounts cannot at any time exceed the contribution limit.
- A nomination contestant is permitted to give an additional $1,000 in total per contest in contributions, loans and loan guarantees to their own campaign.
- A candidate is permitted to give a total of $5,000 in contributions, loans and loan guarantees to their campaign. A candidate is also permitted to give an additional $1,650* in total per year in contributions, loans and loan guarantees to other candidates, registered associations and nomination contestants of each party. (This includes contributions to the registered association in the candidate's electoral district and contributions to the candidate's own nomination campaign.)
- A leadership contestant is permitted to give a total of $25,000 in contributions, loans and loan guarantees to their campaign. A leadership contestant is also permitted to give an additional $1,650* in total per year in contributions, loans and loan guarantees to other leadership contestants.

* The limits increase by $25 on January 1 in each subsequent year.
